ADVENTURE INDONESIA – SUMATRA UNCOVERED

2 × 45' (ENG, GER)

Kim and Eike, video journalists and passionate travelers, have decided to grab their backpacks and take us on a journey through Sumatra.

It's not the first time that Kim has been there, she visited Indonesia when she was 19. But this time everything is different. Together with Eike they arrive by boat from Karimun and travel like the locals to get to know this magical island to the core. We follow them explore the breathtaking landscape, meet the warm and friendly Indonesians, but also visit the less touristy, more conservative part of the largest Indonesian island, where the Islamic sharia law still determines people's lives. A unique adventure of two young travelers experiencing and trying to understand one of the most interesting and beautiful islands in the world.

1. Deep Jungle and Beautiful Beaches

In the first part of the journey Kim and Eike are on a boat from Karimun, an Indonesian island under Singapore, to Medan for 22 hours, they travel to the Jungle in Tangakahan and spend a night there with locals, before they travel to the island Banyak.

2. Bull Races and Volcanic Peaks

In the second part of the journey they go to Simeuluë where they see how the Sharia laws make the island feel like it is stuck in time. Then they travel to Minangkabau, where they get to know the opposite, a culture in which the women are very important. Last but not least, they climb Mount Kerinci as a perfect ending for their adventure.
