

NATURE . WILDLIFE

BAVARIA'S ALPINE KINGDOM

52' (ENG), 45' (GER)

There is a magical land in the very south of Bavaria: its vaults are the mountains, its animals are the crown jewels. An iridescent alpine kingdom.

There are sparkling palaces from ice and snow, like those found in a fairytale. The icy castles are the phenomenal work of Mother Nature but man had a hand in the magnificent stone castles of the region. The spectacular and histrionic mountains of the Bavarian Alps challenge wildlife and the people who live there and the rocky ramparts of this mountain kingdom are built of limestone and fossil rocks that tell of its origins beneath the sea. Millions of visitors from all over the world come to Bavaria every year to witness the mysticism of the landscape. Kings and Queens, tourist and locals, all are welcomed in the fantastic alpine kingdom.

Original Title: Allgäu - Im Land des Märchenkönigs

Year: 2013

Produced by: Nautilusfilm, BR, Latitude Production, National Geographic

