NINE AND A HALF

100 x 10' (GER) - long running series

Why are there no strawberries in strawberry yoghurt? Who protects us from terror and terrorists? Why do we need manners? These are questions that every child ponders at one point in their lives.

They never get tired of asking questions and this weekly report for children gives them all the answers and explains some of the wide range of various mysteries of the world. The topics range from current affairs, politics and economics to science and society.
