

TRUE CRIME

IN THE NAME OF THE DEAD

3 x 45' (GER, 1 Ep ENG subs)

Forensic scientists – they are the specialists who, with permission from the police, conduct investigations with the evidence from a crime scene to track and apprehend criminals.

Miniscule skin cells, blood distribution and even the maggots found at a gruesome crime scene can be probed, examined and studied to acquire evidence that can help the victims achieve justice. The dead may not be able to speak, but their remains say more than enough. It's the job of the trackers, analysts and scientists to listen.
