VISIONS FOR MEGACITIES - THE ASIAN EXPERIMENT

4 x 30' (ENG, GER, FRE)

How will we live in the future? All serious architects and city planners with major projects attempt to influence the lifestyle of the future, but they have long given up the claim of being able to determine what the future holds.

This documentary shows a future-orientated trans-media project in which the most competent experts in various fields speak about the future. Architects, city planners and sociologists are all part of the broader concept, each representing one major issue and an attempt to solve it with an associated concrete project.
