45' (ENG, GER, FRE)

They are the last hope for Indian couples who wish to marry against their parents' wishes – the men of the Love Commando in New Delhi.

Whosoever clicks on the website lovecommandos.org, will stumble upon a handful of men standing in intimidating military poses. These men provide shelter for runaway couples and for this reason are compelled to protect their headquarters from angry relatives. Sometimes they have to adopt guerrilla tactics and methods of trained operatives to successfully secure the refuge. However, despite their aggressive outward appearances and somewhat militant duties, they are softies at heart. The Love Commandos follows a group of ordinary men on an extraordinary mission: to change their country's archaic views on love, honour and marriage, one couple at a time.
