MISSION EXPEDITION

5 x 45' (GER, FRE, 1 EP ENG subs)

Expeditionists bound to the quest for knowledge, self-proclaimed pioneers and activists. They explore the far reaches of the world and we are tagging along.

Scientists conduct researches and experiments that reveal the secrets of the world. They are modern-day explorers who discover new species of animals and plants, dig into ancient landscapes, and gain insight into foreign cultures. By accompanying them on their missions, we experience the pulse of our planet, stumble upon foreign peoples and are infected by scientific curiosity and enthusiasm. Each episode of our five episodes is a research expedition and every expedition is unique. Like past pioneers of the new world, we explore our current world by following scientists on an adventurous journey to five different countries on four different continents.
