DELTA OF THE WORLD

5 x 52' (ENG, GER), 5 x 45' (GER, FRE)

Each of the five films features a different continent, documents the flora and fauna in a river delta and discusses the role of mankind in the preservation of nature.

River deltas are impressive landscapes in a constant state of flux. They are homes to unique biodiversity, however, due to their sensitive ecosystems, the impact of humankind has already brought irreversible changes to some existing deltas. Furthermore, it is predicted that without conscious efforts to reduce our ecological footprint, we will bring harm to other deltas across the world. Each episode shows the fascinating diversity of a delta on a specific continent. From the arctic to the tropics, on the border between land and sea, we explore the deltas of our planet.
