UNDER SUSPICION - YOUNG, MALE, MOROCCAN

45' (GER, ENG subs)

The events of last year's New Year's Eve left their mark, are we all suspects?

The events of New Year's Eve in Cologne left scars on the society: gatherings of young men from Tunisia, Libya, Algeria and Morocco are seen differently and more critically. This is a common situation in the Maghreb quarter in Düsseldorf, where the North Africans make up a large portion of the residents. Behind closed curtains, people talk about offenders coming from this area. And the residents are starting to feel watched: we are all under general suspicion.
